

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR THE SUBMISSION OF THE 2023 YOUNG INVESTIGATORS AWARDS

The combined BCS, BHF, BSCR, and BAS “Young Investigators Award” (YIA) competition will be open for applications on and this session will be unopposed by any other scientific session. Each finalist will present for 10 minutes, leaving five minutes for questioning by the judges. Up to three prizes may be awarded depending upon the quality of the work presented, and the judges will be given the discretion to label these as “winner”, “runner-up”, “clinical prize”, “translational prize”, “basic science prize” or any combination of these as they deem appropriate depending upon the work presented. A total prize pool of £3000 will be available for these prizes and the actual amounts that are awarded will be at the discretion of the Judges.

Applicants should be aware that the ‘media’ has open access to the conference sessions.
